Below are found the basic issues and dynamics found in the essay portion of the CPE Application. We recognize that written materials required below are complex. Still, we ask you to focus succinctly your response to each, preferably in less than five, type, single-spaced pages. Mail or email along with application face sheet answers to the following questions:

- Provide a reasonably full account of your life. Include important events and relationships with people who have been significant in shaping your identity. Share their impact on your development. Describe your family or origin, your current relationships, a current, dynamic self-understanding, and ways your growth has been informed educationally. Identify social condition, structures, cultural influences, heritage, etc., which informed your growth and development including constitutional factors, e.g., gender, race, etc.
- Compose a description of your religious life and spiritual/religious development, including events and relationships that affected your cultivation of faith and currently inform your belief system and spiritual/religious practice.
- Outline a chronological description of your work (vocation) history listing dates and positions.
- Provide an account of an occurrence in which you were called to help "minister to" someone including the nature of the request, your appraisal of the "problem" or "need," what you did and why, and an evaluation that summarizes your circumspect assessment of the encounter. If you have had previous CPE, you can submit a verbatim.
- Give your impression of CPE, specific educational goals, and plans to use training to enhance your competence as a minister, rabbi, priest, imam, pastoral visitor, etc.
- If you are unable to come to Kansas City for an interview, include a copy of an Admission Interview by an ACPE supervisor or another qualified person. CPE supervisor, Seminary Liaison Professors, and ACPE Regional Directors may recommend an interviewer. Include the identity, address, and phone number of your interviewer.
- A non-refundable application fee of $35.00.
- Those Who Have Completed PREVIOUS CPE Submit/Compose The Following:
  - Copies of Previous CPE evaluations written by you and your supervisor.
  - What were the most significant learning experiences in your previous CPE? How have the clinical methods of teaching / learning continued to be helpful? Identify your strengths / weaknesses as a person and provider of pastoral care. What are your long-term personal / professional goals? How can CPE help?
